Our Heroes

Dogs are a fraction of one percent (0.2%) of animals involved in research but have contributed to almost every treatment, cure, vaccine, and diagnostic and surgical procedure available today. The discovery of insulin for diabetes? Cancer treatments? Heart valve replacements? Knee and hip prosthetics? Thank our canine heroes!

Meet George

George is an unaffected puppy from a Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy (DMD) colony that helps researchers develop treatments for children, young adults, and dogs with this disorder. Through Homes for Animal Heroes, he now has a permanent, loving family and a home with a big backyard.
